BLACK PANTHER IS SHARPENING CLAWS FOR HARDEST YEAR

Coach Klevenow Preparing Gridsters For Yale Game October 3

MANY VETERANS HAVE GRADUATED

1928 Men Show Promise of Filling Vacancies Acceptably

With the third week of training well under way Coach Klevenow is now pointing his Black Panther eleven to the initial contest with the Yale Bulldog in the Bowl on October 3. The situation facing the Middlebury team this year is a new one in that it must be in the best of condition at the outset of the season to face Yale and Harvard on successive Saturdays, and with this end in view forty men have been working out for two weeks and a half, with prospects of a winning eleven brightening each day with the moulding of a smoothly working machine.

The schedule this year is a pretentious one, to say the least, and in addition the loss of several veterans will be keenly felt. However these factors should not be given too serious consideration as Coach Klevenow has a wealth of material to work with both from the varsity and the freshman team of last fall. Another encouraging feature is the fact that Harvard and Yale have been practicing a week less than the Black Panther team and a week's time makes a decided difference in the showing a team makes in its first games, so that in point of training Middlebury has a week's advantage over her first two adversaries.

With the graduation of Papke, Klevenow, Lobo, Kilbride, and Hollquist and the withdrawal of Whitney the backfield has suffered a severe loss as has also the line with the graduation of Reigelman, Chapin, Cass and Carboy.

To fill these gaps in a satisfactory manner is the problem now confronting Coach Klevenow. Captain Potter will hold down his regular position while the return of Novotny to the squad has brought a solution to the end problem. Brosowsky and Mullen

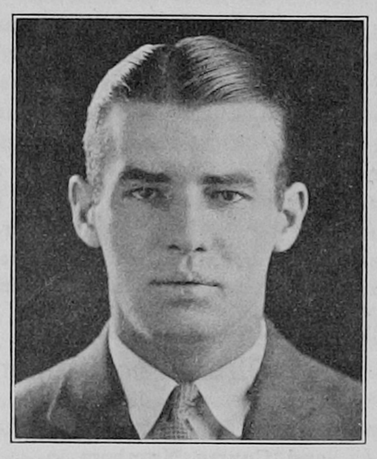
SENIOR PRESIDENT



ALFRED KNOWLES

Honored by Unanimous Reelection as President of the Class of 1925

1926 AGAIN NAMES KNOWLES PRESIDENT

Seniors Choose Class Officers At Meeting Held Monday

Alfred Knowles of Boston, Mass., was re-elected president of the class of 1926 at a meeting of the seniors on Monday. Katherine Abel of Essex, Conn., was chosen vice-president, Charlotte Raymond of Fair Haven, Vt., secretary and Lester Q. Stewart of Camden, N. J., treasurer.

Knowles' election is a most unusual honor in that it is the first time in several years that a man has been president of his class for more than one year. Knowles has served as class president during the past year and during his sophomore year was class treasurer. He is also vice-president of the Undergraduate Association, and has served on the Student Council. He has won his letter for three consecutive years on the basketball team. Knowles is affiliated with the Chi Psi fraternity and is a member of the Sage and Waubanakee honorary societies.

Miss Abel has been prominent in the work of the Dramatic Club for the past few years. She has also been in both the college choir and the glee club. She is a member of the Banshee honorary society and of Alpha Xi Delta.

Miss Raymond has been prominent in the work of the publications during her three years in college. She is at present the associate editor of the

COLLEGE FACULTY HAS MANY CHANGES

Three Return From Year's Absence; Thirteen New Names

Middlebury welcomes to its ranks of professors and instructors this year three who have been enjoying sabbatical leaves and thirteeen new members. Professors Robinson and Swett and Dean Ross have returned from a year's absence. Professor Robinson spent the year at Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., as an instructor in the Latin department. Professor Swett studied at the Graduate School of Geography of Clark University.

Due to the fact that Dr. Harrington is to be on leave this year Mr. Franklin C. Thompson comes to do his work in Philosophy. Professor Thompson is a graduate of Williams College 1903; Hartford 1906; Columbia 1923 (M. A.); Atlanta 1924 (B. D.). He was a member of the faculty of Berea College for four years and of Piedmont College for two years.

In the Economics department is Harry M. Fife, M. A., who comes from Chicago University where he has been teaching part of the time while studying for his degree of Ph. D. He has also taught at McGill University.

Douglas S. Beers, B. A. Yale, 1919; M. A. Yale, 1921; Ph. D. Yale, 1925, succeeds Miss Studley in the English department. This department is further strengthened by Harry H. Clark, Trinity College A. B., 1923; M. A. Harvard, 1924, who was, during the past year, instructor in Freshman English at Yale University.

As assistant in Geology there is Bruno M. Schmidt, B. A., Williams, 1922. He was in the Geology department at Williams during 1922-23, and was last year at Yale Graduate School.

The Chemistry department welcomes J. Fessler Haller, B. of Chem. Cornell 1922. For the past three years he has studied and taught in the Chemistry department at Cornell.

Miss Mary Margaret Stoops, B S., Columbia succeeds Miss Esther S. Posthill as Home Economics instructor. Miss Stoops has assisted in this work at Columbia during the past eight years.

The position of athletic coach which was left vacant by the resignation of David B. Morey is being filled by Marshall M. Klevenow, Middlebury B. S., 1925, as Coach and Instructor in Physical Education. Herbert O. Reigelman, Middlebury B. S. 1925 is instructor in German and freshman football coach.

Vernon Archibald, Concert Baritone, to Sing Here

The regular winter concert series, which has been given at Middlebury each year in the past, has been discontinued this year. The college is not to be wholly without classical music by well-known artists however. Tomorrow evening in the Mead Memorial Chapel Vernon Archibald, concert baritone of New York city, is to appear. Upon the interest shown in this concert will depend in a large measure whether other well-known artists will be brought to Middlebury during the year. After a year as soloist at the Union Park church in Chicago, Mr. Archibald went to New York to succeed Reinald Werrenwrath as baritone solosit of the Madison Avenue Methodist. Connoisseurs of vocal art unite in acclaiming his distinct enunciation charm of style and polished artistry.

No business was transacted at the Undergraduate Association meeting last night.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT MIDDLEBURY AS PRESIDENT MOODY OPENS 126TH YEAR WITH ADDRESS TO STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

REGISTRATION STATISTICS

Registration statistics compiled yesterday afternoon show that a greater number of students are enrolled in the college than ever before in the history of the institution. Five hundred and seventy-one are enrolled as compared with last year's record of five hundred and sixty. Enrollment in the men's college however, has not quite reached the peak attained last year, there being two hundred and ninety-seven while last year the total was three hundred and one.

Registration in the women's college has jumped from two hundred and fifty nine to a new high mark of two hundred and seventy-four. There are one hundred and ninety-one students in the freshman class, one hundred and six of whom are men and eighty-five women.

CHATEAU IS OPENED TO FRENCH STUDENTS

"House-Warming in October; Faculty Personnel Is Changed

Middlebury's famous French Chateau, around which so much interest has been centered during the past year, opened its doors to forty-five girls, all of whom are taking courses in French, at the opening of College last week. At the same time the dining room was opened to members of the men's college who are interested in French.

The formal "House Warming" has not yet taken place, but plans are being made for a date around the middle of October, at which time Professor Andre Morize of Harvard is expected to visit Middlebury.

The Chateau is in charge of Miss Ethel F. Littlefield, M. A. Miss Littlefield is a graduate of Radcliffe and last year held the position of Chairman of the French Department at Elmira College.

Stephen A. Freeman, Ph. D. comes from Brown University to act as head of the French Department. Dr. Freeman received his A. B. from Harvard in 1920, his M. A. in 1921, and his Ph. D. in 1923. During 1921-1922 he was in the American Field Service in France, studying at Lyons and Paris. He served in the late War as pilot on submarine patrol duty in the United States Naval Aviation.

Albert Ranty, B. S. of Columbia Teachers' College will also serve on the

"Quality Versus Quantity" Is Theme Of Address

MIDDLEBURY IS FOR QUALITY

President Pleads For Education That Trains the Mind

President Moody formally opened the one hundred and twenty sixth year of Middlebury College on Thursday morning, September 19, in Mead Memorial Chapel. His opening address centered on quality versus quantity.

"It is an economic fact," he said, "that the more you make of a standardized product the more you can reduce the cost of manufacture of each article and so increase the margin of profit. But in a direct proportion as you increase the quantity there is a tendency to decrease the quality.

"It is a general American tendency, perhaps inevitable in a new people, to reverence quantity above quality. This is one of the things, we are told, which impresses the visitor to this country, the vastness of the country, the height of our buildings, the size of our fortunes, and the general emphasis placed on magnitude.

"Now I am not concerned with this subject at large but rather the way in which it touches or affects college. In the most superficial sense it affects the size of a college. That college which places quantity above quality can always be a larger college if it want to be. Arguments concerning the relative merits of the small and large colleges are futile, but at the same time this can be said without fear of contradiction, that all other things being equal, the opportunity the smaller college to lay emphasis on quality is greater than in the large. That is what Middlebury stands for and will, I hope, always stand for.

"Let me plead at the outset my complete devotion to the idea of education as that process by which minds are trained rather than stored or packed. While it matters in a measure what you study it does not matter so much what you study as how you study. You may take those subjects, when you are allowed to elect them, which fit you for some one occupation but your study of these subject may be so desolutory, you may be so easily satisfied with passing that you do not derive any great benefit from them be-

Installation of Phi Mu Makes All Greek Societies National

On Tuesday, Sept. 15, the local sorority, Delta Omega Delta, became Beta Lambda Chapter of Phi Mu. Mrs. Robert Inglehart of Bogota, N. J., National Treasurer and Mrs. Molleson of New York, President of Beta Province installed the chapter. Immediately following the installation a banquet was held at the Hotel Addison. Toasts were given by all the initiates and by both installing officers.

Phi Mu was founded at Wesleyan College, Macon, Ga., on March 4, 1852. The fraternity is especially strong in the south and west, altho Beta is one of the largest provinces. There are nearby chapters at New Hampshire University, Colby, the University of Maine, Adelphi College, the University of Syracuse, and the University of Pittsburg. Beta Lambda is the forty-fifth chapter of Phi Mu.

Delta Omega Delta was founded at Middlebury in the Spring of 1922 and was at that time formally recognized by the other sororities and fraternities. When this, the youngest of the sororities, became a chapter in a national fraternity last week the story of local fraternities at Middlebury was ended. The thirteen Greek letter secret socities on the Campus are now all national.

Beta Lambda Chapter of Phi Mu made its formal debut Wednesday afternoon, September 16. A tea was held in the Phi Mu rooms for the patronesses, faculty members and friends in the student body. Delegates from the other sororities acknowledged by their presence the newest chapter on the Middlebury Campus.

The initiates were: Miriam Colby, Hazel Hughes, Elizabeth Kelley, Catherine Matthews, Viola Palmer, Ruth Piper, Charlotte Raymond, Marion Swift and Helen Woodworth of the class of 1926; Helen Ellsworth, Lucille Norton, Ruth Jones, Rhoda Southall, and Helen Matthews of the class of 1927; Elizabeth Hayes, Emily Lobdell, Gertrude Parsons, Laura Powers, Ruth Potter and Helen Revere of the class of 1928.

ONWARD !

The notable Commencement of last June, upon the occasion of the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the college, brought to a close a chapter in the history of Middlebury. Any historian of the future will doubtless choose the year 1925 as the close of one definite period and the beginning of another.

We are agreed that the period that has just closed has been, in every respect a successful one. It has been one of growth, not rapid, but of the steady kind, always letting quality set the pace. Middlebury has continuously improved in the years which have just passed and is nearer, perhaps, than ever before to the goal set for it by its founders.

But what of the future? What of the chapter of Middlebury history that is to commence with the college year 1925-1926? Are we to continue with the progress of past years, are we to make an even better record, or are we to fall behind the standard that has been set up for us and make useless the good work of those who have gone before?

The answer to this question depends in part on the faculty, in part on the trustees, in part on the alumni, but in the greatest measure upon the students who are now in college. The standing of a college while depending in part upon the first three bodies has for its most important part the activity of the student body itself. It is the record made by the students in college today, both individually and as a whole and the mark that they make for themselves in after life that will determine the degree of brilliancy of the chapter of Middlebury history which is now beginning to be made. It is dependent upon the student body whether the progress of the college is to continue upward or whether it is to turn and take a downward trend.

The members of the freshman class, although newcomers in our midst, will perhaps have more responsibility than any other one group in college at the present for they will be here the longest time and will have the greatest influence upon the classes of the next three years. It is the duty of the upper classes, however, to accept their share of the responsibility and to aid the freshmen so that they may better shoulder their burnden.

Let us then, in the rush of our daily work, stop occasionally for a moment to remember that we are making an important chapter in Middlebury history and guide our efforts accordingly.

OVER OUR HEADS?

Among the many things that the upperclassmen of Middlebury have heretofore been privileged to enjoy were the annual concert courses. These series brought to this college a class of music, lectures, and drama that was high grade and very superior. The cost of a season ticket was small as compared with the number of enjoyable and worthwhile entertainments.

It is perhaps a serious reflection on the tastes of suposedly cultured people that the college went way behind on the entertainment course last year due to the students' lack of interest and cooperation For this reason we have not been asked to buy a ticket for the concert series this year.

Tomorrow evening at eight o'clock in Mead Memorial Chapel, Vernon Archibald, the distinguished American baritone will give a concert. Whether it is the first entertainment of the year or the first and last will depend entirely upon the spirit manifested and the size of the audience. If the concert series of Middlebury are to continue, the student body must give its heartiest cooperation tomorrow evening; otherwise there will be no more programs to look forward to, and we will be accused of lacking the taste for the cultured things in life as well as college spirit.

"Put First Things First" Says President at Vespers

Moody Discusses Importance of Properly Ranking Things at First Sunday Chapel Service

President Moody, in speaking at the first Vespers service of the college year, used as his text the first three words of, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all things shall be added unto you." "Seek ye first things first. The same thing is needed in making corn-bread and in building an edifice, for the proper ingredients in the proper ratio make a success of either, and are the secret of life, as well. Some speak of the defect in virtue, but this is non-existent. Yet virtue must have other ingredients mixed with it. Truth spoken with discrimination, appreciation and kindness is greater than veracity. A man laying too much stress on little things lays not enough on things possessing importance. In college we are apt to lose the true perspective. Keep first things first, and the secondary and tertiary will find their proper rank.

"But what are first things? The body reaches its perfection at twenty-five. When this is put first, the right a certain mental maturity at forty-five. If cultivation of the mind is first, proportion is gone. The mind reaches time comes when proportion is lost. The Soul, we believe, is eternal. Inasmuch as a thing is permanent, should its importance be considered. Thus the Soul, or character, is supreme importance. Yet most men build mansions for their souls from tag ends. The essential man will be dependable if good health, mental ingenuity and other matters of secondary importance are given their just place. But character comes first, and its cultivation is up to the individual. Health and mentality may be tested. Character test is by one's self alone.

"In placing first things first, a good beginning is important. Habits have value that is intrinsic. First impressions, too, have importance. A good beginning is not absolutely necessary, but without it the final achievement is much more difficult. One's reputation is important. Character and reputation are different but have much in common.

"Seek first things first, not only for the present, but for the future. Every day, whether freshman or senior, do something that looks forward to the future. Cultivate body and mind with reference to the time when present opportunities will be gone. But first of all, build up your character, and in these first days build up habits that will be valuable in the future. Keep your sense of proportion. Keep first things first, and life will be successful, not only here, but in the world outside, and in the world beyond."

PANTHER CUBS ARE PRACTISING DAILY FOR FIRST TUSSLE

Dartmouth Frosh, Five Others on Schedule for Yearlings

Forty aspiring freshmen reported to Coach Reigelman last week and have been working out on the freshman field since. Light work for the first few days gradually giving way to signal drill and harder work have kept the frosh occupied. With the completion of the new frosh field the team is given every chance to work out under the best conditions.

In comparison to the teams of the last two years the frosh are rather light but what these teams seemed to lack in speed the frosh seem to have acquired. With a fast running backfield and a fair line Coach Reigelman should turn out a team hard to beat.

Interest in the season centers around the game with Vermont freshmen which will be played here. As Middlebury now holds a tie for the state championship in freshmen football due to last year's defeat of Norwich and a 0-0 tie with Vermont every effort will be made to bring the honors home in this game.

In preparation for the Vermont game the frosh will have a new team on their schedule in the Dartmouth freshmen. Following this game the team will renew relations with Vermont academy.

After the Vermont game the team will play Williston Seminary in an attempt to avenge last year's single touchdown defeat. Following this game the team will wind up the season with home games with Montpelier and the strong Goddard team.

Oct. 10—Dartmouth Freshmen at Hanover.

Oct. 17—Vermont Academy at Saxtons River.

Oct. 24—Vermont Freshmen at Porter Field.

Oct. 31—Open.

Nov. 7—Williston Seminary at Williston.

Nov. 14—Montpelier Seminary at Porter Field.

Nov. 21—Goddard Seminary at Porter Field.

Freshmen Entertained At Annual Reception

The annual freshman reception was held Saturday evening in McCullough Gymnasium under the auspices of the Student Government and Young Women's Christian Associations. The entire women's college was present to do honor to the new students.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Paul D. Moody,, Miss Marion L. Young and Clara Park and Florence Smith, presidents of the Student Government and Y. W. C. A., respectively. Many of the women of the faculty were also present.

Each girl was tagged with her name and the freshmen were given slips of paper on which to write the name of each girl to whom they were introduced. A prize was awarded to Miss Fredrika Alexander for securing the longest list.

Speeches of welcome to the newcomers were then made by Clara Park and Florence Smith, after which entertainments were given by the Maqua Club and Y. M. C. A. social committee. Songs followed and the reception ended with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Dorothy B. Slayton, '23, was married to Dr. A. Stuart Hunter (brother of J. Allan Hunter, '24) at Montpelier, Vt., August 1. Dr. and Mrs. Hunter will reside at 11 Forbes Terrace, Pittsburg, Pa.

FRESHMEN—ATTENTION!

All freshmen who wish to enter the competition for places on the staff of the CAMPUS are asked to report in the Old Chapel room on the third floor of the Old Chapel at 1:30 o'clock on Thursday Both men and women are eligible to compete for places on either the editorial or business staff. Sport writers are especially needed. For the benefit of those who are out for freshman football and others who may be unable to try out at the present time, an arrangement will be made to have a special competition later in the semester. All such should report at tomorrow's meeting however.

Several New Courses Offered to Students

Changes Are Made in Prerequisites and Course Numbers in Some Departments

Numerous changes in the curriculum were presented to Middlebury College students at the opening of the college year. More alterations in the English department have taken place than in any other. Professor F. W. Cady, head of the English Department, has added several new English courses and changed to a considerable extent prerequisites. The revised courses "History of English Literature" is required to be taken by all entering Freshmen and all students majoring in English.

In the Biology Department, Seminar course has been instituted; Natural History will be a two semester course; and Physiology and Hygiene will be given under the title of General Physiology.

The only important innovation in the French Department is the new course in Advanced Conversation given by Professor Littlefield.

In the Department of History, practically the same courses are offered but the numbers of the courses have been changed somewhat.

Under Professor White a beginners' course in Italian is to be given this year. The rudiments of composition and conversation will be studied.

Miss Prudence Fish is giving a new course called "Ear Training and Sight Singing" in the Music Department.

In Physical Education an Advanced course, required of all Sophomore women is presented under Miss Rosevear.

The old Contemporary Civilization Course formerly required of all freshmen is now incorporated under the department of Sociology. The course will be known as "An Introduction to Current Problems of the Individual and of Institutions" but nearly the same subject matter will be presented by Professor Kingsley.

Aside from minor changes in prerequisites and alterations in course numbers the other departments remain unchanged. A more detailed outline of the new courses and variations will appear in the College Catalogue, which is being edited by Professor J. Moreno-Lacalle, and will be out in about a month.

'21—Sam P. Davis and George Whitmore are to be with the H. P. Stahl Properties Company in Lakeland, Fla., for the winter.

cause you do not any true sense strain or develop your mind. And on the other hand you may study subjects which are of no particular or direct benefit to the course you hope to pursue, but you may study them in such a way that they may train your mind and discipline your will to such an extent that you are far more prepared for your chosen field than you would be by intensive study in other fields.

"I hope you will find your college course hard, very hard. Because in proportion as it is hard you will develop strength of mind and strength of will. And it is these two things for which you have come to college.

"That is why education is and always must be a moral thing. It deals with the training of the will through the mind. That is why sport is a valuable thing because it deals with the training of the will through the body. When it ceases to be this, it is injurious and when education ceases to be a training of the will through the mind it becomes merely a collection of facts and information.

"The true test of whether or not you are being properly educated is whether or not you are, by the process, becoming a better man or woman. This is the qualitative conception of education as opposed to the quantitative and to this policy this old college of which you are now a member is firmly dedicated."

When the War opened in 1914 M. Huet was in Dresden and was retained as a prisoner of war until 1916. From 1916 to 1918 he was interned in Switzerland and was exchanged and came to America in August 1918.

Many Entries In Fall Tennis Tournament

Play for the college tennis championship commences tomorrow with a large number of entries. The winner besides gaining possession of the cup emblematic of the championship will also receive a high-grade steel tennis racket. There will also be a doubles tournament, an innovation in the college.

Three of last year's letter men will play, and they are big favorites for the cup. Hickcox, manager of next year's team should find his way into the finals although there is no doubt that he will be forced to beat Hindes and Twitchell.

NEW PLAN DEVISED FOR GYM CLASSES

Freshmen to Have Three Big Meets in Track Events

Coach Arthur M. Brown is instituting with the present freshman class a new type of gymnasium work which should prove a success, both in winning the interest of the men taking physical education and in developing material for the varsity track squad.

The system, as outlined by Coach Brown and directed by Herbert Reigleman, consists of pentathlons in the fall and spring and a decathlon indoors during the winter months. Both divisions of the men's classes will be divided into squads of eight men, or possibly more. Working on a basis of a point-award running from one to 20. The members of these squads will compete against each other in the 100-yd. dash, the running broad jump, javelin throw, running high jump, and bar vault.

Five divisions are made of the points, beginning with poor, one to five; fair, five to nine; average, nine to 13; good, 13 to 17; and excellent, ranging from 17 through the highest points given, 20. Each man will have his individual record card; on this he will check off, for each event, the number of points he receives according to the time, distances, and heights printed on the cards under the five divisional heads.

After practice, the fall pentathlon will be run off and records made of the results. Next spring these records will be compared by each individual with those he makes in the second pentathlon.

Events in the winter decathlon have not, as yet, been definitely selected. From the following twelve events, all suitable for indoor work, ten will probably be chosen, according to Coach Brown: potato race, 18 foot rope climb free style, spring-board high jump pull ups, triple jump, floor dips, basketball goal throwing with one minute the time limit, rope vault, medicine ball throw, 100 count rope-skip, sit ups, and 12 lb. shot put.

Averages for the gymnasium work will be based on the individual records made in these meets. The standard, as given on the score cards, is: 10-20, poor; 21-40, fair; 41-60, average; 61-80, good; 81-100, excellent. In this manner the marking for gym work will fall under the general five divisional heads.

As an example of the way in which this new system will work, the following might be given: if a man, in the pentathlon, ran the 100 yd. dash in 11.6 s., he would receive 17 points according to the score card. If he broad-jumped 15 ft., he would receive 12. A 105 ft. javelin throw wins 15 points, a high jump of 5ft. 2 in. takes 20 points, the highest given; and a bar vault of 5 ft. wins 12 points. These points score only for squads.

The only rules governing the meets are: rubber soled shoes only may be worn, and more than 20 points will not be scored in any one event, even though the competitor goes faster, higher or farther than the score cards allow.

who have held down varsity berths for three years will, in all probability, start at tackle. In the center of the line there remains some doubt as to who will play but indications are that Ehlert will play guard with either Wiley or Reilly as runningmates. McLaughlin or Furbush will be the mainstays at center.

In the backfield Gruggel, who played end last year, is being tried at full and seems to be holding down the position properly. H. B. Whittemore, a new man on the squad has shown unusual promise, doing all the kicking and passing, while he is being tried at one of the half positions. Schaeffer and McNeil have been altering at the other half with Shorty Rice rattling off the signals.

Klevenow also has some promising material in Keene at full, Hinman and Finnegan, backs, Gollnick at quarter; Frank and Conley in the line and Jones at end With these men to work with Middlebury should send out at team the latter part of next week that will make the impression on Yale that Middlebury's teams have a tradition of making on any and all opponents.

CROSS-COUNTRY MEN PREPARE FOR MEETS

Season's Opener at Harvard Oct. 9; Two Others on Schedule

A score of candidates for the varsity cross-country team, led by lettermen and veteran runners, have been covering the six-mile course and taking hard daily work-outs since last Thursday, preparing for a season of three gruelling meets the first of which is to be at Harvard on Friday, October 9.

Although Capt. Kelley was not in the pack that pounded down the roads last week, he is now leading the chase and, in the best of condition, will not be handicapped by his late start in training. Among the long distance runners now working is Bill Donald, '28, who, though unable to run varsity last fall, even at that time promised to make Capt. Kelley labor to hold his first position in the run and today seems as fit as he was last spring.

Veteran members of the pack now back in the run are Dodd, Whiting, Robinson, Lathrop, and G. G. Hoyt. These men during the last trial runs have set the pace for a number of underclassmen who are working to make the team. Several freshmen, too, in preparation for next spring's track season, are taking the daily grind with the squad.

Coach Brown is highly optimistic over the prospects for the season, even though, he says, the team will meet some of the hardest of opposition. Manager Auburn Ross has scheduled the teams of Williams and R. P. I. to complete Middlebury's three meets, and at present he is seeking to complete negotiations with Vermont for a meet at Burlington the morning of the Middlebury-Vermont game. However, he is not certain that this will be possible, since there is still doubt as to whether or not Vermont will put a cross-country team onto the road this fall.

The present schedule is: Harvard, at Cambridge, Oct. 9; Williams, at Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 24; R. P. I., at Middlebury, Oct. 31.

Candidates working out are: Capt. Kelley, L. W. Robinson, G. B. Dodd, J. H. Gonslaves, F. R. Clement, Jr., G. G. Hoyt, M. R. Cary, A. J. Whiting, Jr., C. C. Arnold, Jr., Milo Lathrop, Donald Ramsdell, A. B. Hilliard, O. A. Turker, L. F. Clark, J. P. Hoyt, W. Deedman, H. Kinne, P. Butler, W. K. Donald and W. R. Witt.

'10—Robert F. Hunt has returned to Chicago from Dayton, Ohio, and will reside at Glencoe, Ill.

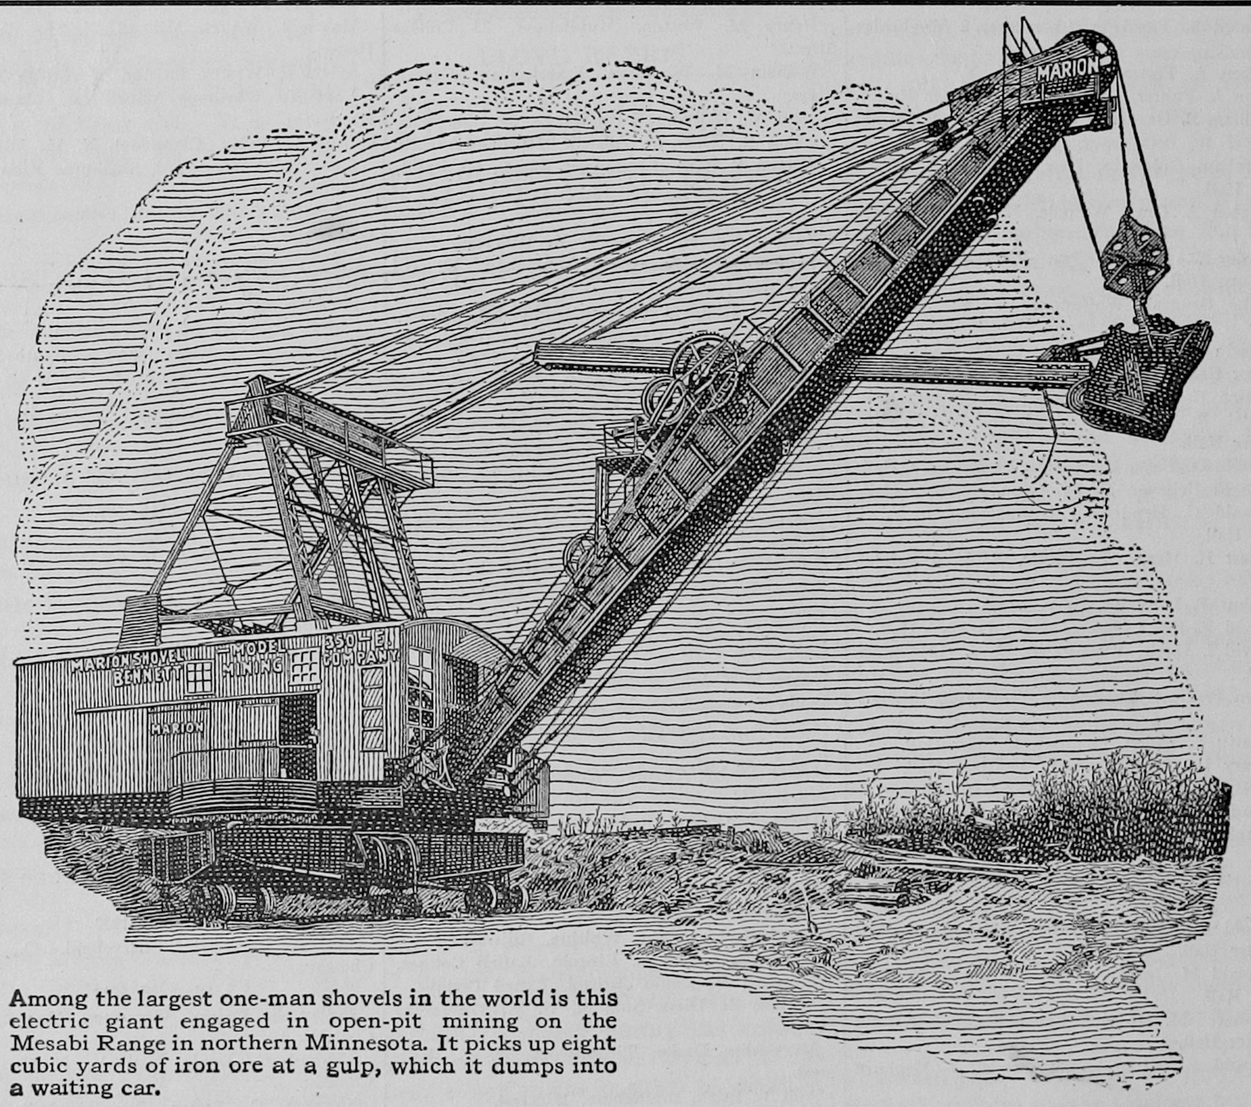
Kappa Delta Rho Holds National Meet at Bread Loaf

The annual national convention of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity was held at Bread Loaf Inn, September 7, 8 and 9 with Alpha Chapter of Middlebury entertaining. About seventy delegates and guests were present. The fraternity was founded at Middlebury in 1905. At the present time there are twelve college chapters and three alumni associations. Among the Middlebury alumni who were present were W. E. Davison, R. L. Cook, Roscoe Dake, Robert R. Twitchell, A. M. Ottman, William E. Edmunds, L. W. Adkins, George Ayres, Franklin G. Williams and Robert L. Force. The delegates of the Middlebury chapter were Lester Q. Stewart '26 and Alton Huntington '27.



Among the largest one-man shovels in the world is this electric giant engaged in open-pit mining on the Mesabi Range in northern Minnesota. It picks up eight cubic yards of iron ore at a gulp, which it dumps into a waiting car.

A day's work in a minute

Mesabi Range, renowned iron ore deposit, is yielding its mineral wealth at the rate of 16 tons for every bite of an electric scoop.

A man with a shovel would work a whole day to mine and load eight cubic yards of iron ore which this 300-ton electric giant moves in one minute.

Of course, all mining is not done on the surface. But there are many mines in which electricity has changed our conception of mining operations. Wires, penetrating even to the deepest shafts and galleries, have brought light, power, ventilation and added safety to those who must work in the very bowels of the earth.

Electricity's contribution to mining may be of particular interest to the student of mining engineering, but it is of general interest to all college men as still another example of how electricity is simplifying the world's work.

In every branch of mining operations G-E equipment is very much in evidence. And there are engineers of the General Electric Company especially assigned to mining problems and requirements, just as there are others specializing in all major applications of electricity.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.
